Song of the Wanderer

The barren land around me lies, my flame is burning low;
cold and pale the winter skies, and I am far from home.
With my light that burns so dim, am I visible to Him? Does
He hear the fragile song of creatures here below?
He wakes the lark and bids her fly to greet the coming spring, wakes our hearts and bids us rise then gives our spirits wing. He speaks and winter melts away, hears us when we come to pray, turns our night-time into day our Light, our Life, our King.
Glorious joy of summer sun, the gentle healing rain,
banishing our tears and sighs, with beauty for our pain.
Earth and sky, lay glory by Christ, the Lord, is drawing nigh! All creation, bow to Him from whom all blessings flow!
Blows the wind, and soon will come the autumn of the year with its golden light of love still shining ever clear. From the rising of the sun to the place where day is done, peace on earth has now begun to cast away our fear; Praise God from whom all blessings flow, praise Him, all creatures
here below; praise Him above, ye heavenly host, praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

† Missions Moment †

In my work with refugee resettlement, I teach an English as a Second Language (ESL) class. One morning, I thought it would be fun to learn body parts by singing the 'Hokey Pokey.' As we sang 'put your left leg in' several of the students began to giggle and laugh. I thought to myself, they are getting it and having fun too. Fantastic! When we put our right legs in all decorum collapsed. The women nearly fell to the ground in full belly laughter.

I’m not sure what the Hokey Pokey is called in other countries or what it may have implied to my refugee friends. But considering all they have gone through and what they continue to have to do to remain—well I just have to say I think the Angels in Heaven were doing the Hokey Pokey with us that morning.
